

POST OFFICE

during the Great War

A mid-20th century photo of Bleasdale School

PARISH COUNCIL.—Alfred King (chairman), Harold Jackson, J.P., Thos. Hutchinson, Anthony Sanderson, and Arthur Gardner.
 Post Office, School house, H. N. Hosmondhigh, postmaster. Letters, via Garstang, arrive at 9.0 a.m., and are despatched at 4.0 p.m.

FARMERS
 Ball John, carter, Oakenclough
 Bullock George, shoemaker, Admarsh
 Cocksom John, tailor, Admarsh
 Corless Wm., paper maker (j.), Oakenclough
 Curwen William, vict., Moor Cook
 Darshaw Gilbert, gamekeeper, Higher lodge
 Hosmondhigh Herbert Nelson, schoolmaster, Admarsh
 Hutchinson Thos., bkpr., Oakenclough
 Jackson Harold, Esq., J.P., paper manufacturer, Oakenclough
 King Alfred, governor, North Lancashire Reformatory
 Marshall James, gamekeeper, Bleasdale lower
 Parker Rev. John Frederick Heighway, The Vicarage
 Simpson James, fitter, Oakenclough
 Smith Miss Elizabeth, Lower lodge
 Toone Thomas, foreman, Oakenclough

Baron John, Moss side
 Corless James, Broadgate
 Curwen William, Moor Cook
 Dalgson Brothers, Stale house
 Gardner Arthur, Fell and
 Heyes George Wm., Lower Fairsnape
 Kelsall Thomas (and rate collector), Fairsnape
 Kirkham Matthew, Weaver farm
 Lord Walter James, Admarsh farm
 Proctor Edward, Brook close
 Raby James, Oakenclough
 Rhodes Ellen, Bindhurst
 Sanderson Anthony, Brooks farm
 Shaw James, New house
 Thompson Robert, Calder side
 Wills James, Hazlehurst
 Winder Mrs. Ellen, Bindhurst
 Winder Thomas, Oakenclough
 Yates John, Home house
 Yates Roger, Higher Fairsnape

Barretts
 Directory of Preston 1901

The Post Office played a vital part during the First World War. Delivering letters and parcels, paying allowances to soldiers' wives and handling savings accounts were but a few of its duties.

A sub-post office at Bleasdale was first established in 1858 following a request by the then Vicar, Rev.

Shilleto, to the Postmaster-General. It was established within 20 years of the introduction of the pre-paid penny-postage stamps which led to the setting up of a network of post offices in the UK. Letters arrived at Bleasdale School from Garstang in the early morning and were collected in the late afternoon.

Until 1904, the role of sub-postmaster was taken on by the Schoolmaster.

The position was then taken over by George Bullock, the cobbler who lived at School Cottages, and later by his daughter and son-in-law, Agnes and Peter Lord.

George then moved to Hazelhurst Cottage, from where he continued to carry out postal duties until his death in 1942. The Post Office remained at School Cottages until after the Second World War when it moved to Brock Mill.

BLEASDALE AND PILLING. 755

Bleasdale amount to over £70 a year, including a yearly endowment of £22 for the National School. The rateable value of the township is £4,137. The population in 1851, was 295; 1861, 372; 1871, 376; 1881, 410; 1891, 402; 1901, 403; and 1911, 265.

Parish Council.—John Hulleston, Roger Yates, John Rowlandson, Wm. Pye, and Richard Brewer. Rural District Councillor, Thos. Kelsall.

Post Office at Mr. George Bullock's, Admarsh. Letters, via Garstang, arrive at 8.45 a.m., and are despatched at 4.10 p.m.

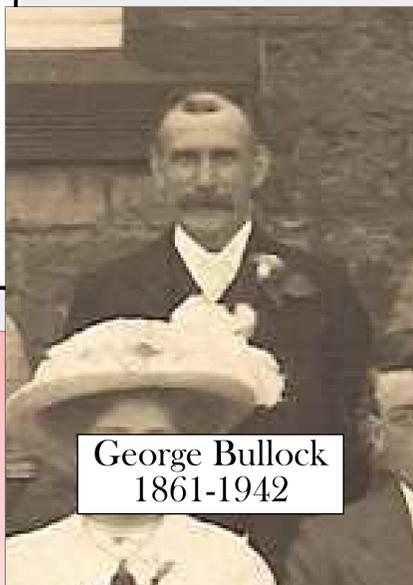

BULLOCK GEO., shoemaker and postmaster, School cottages, Admarsh
 Carr Henry, gamekeeper, Lower lodge
 Corless John, gardner, Higher lodge
 Curwen Wm., paper mkr., Oakenclough
 Curwen Wm., vict., Moor Cook
 Earnshaw Gilbert, gamekeeper, Tower cot
 Hunt Robt., schoolmaster, Admarsh
 Jackson Harold, Esq., J.P., paper manufacturer, Oakenclough. Tel. 8 and 9.2 h. Calder bank
 Kelsall Thos., junr., assistant overseer, Fairsnape
 Lees Maurice, Esq., Bleasdale Tower
 Parker Rev. John Fredk. Heighway, The Vicarage, Admarsh
 Pye Wm., estate foreman, School cott
 Sawwhita Miss, teacher, Admarsh
 Wilecock Mr. Stephen, Fell End cottages
 Yates John, overseer, Fairsnape

FARMERS.
 Brewer Rd., Lower Fairsnape
 Carr Wm. & Bros., Stole house
 Clement Rd., Oakenclough
 Curwen Wm., Moor Cook
 Daniel Edward, Brook's barn
 Helm William, Fell End
 Hosmondhigh Joseph, Bindhurst
 Hunt John, Brook mill
 Kelsall Thos., Fairsnape
 Kirkham Matthew, Weaver's farm
 Lawson Wm., Higher Brook mill
 Lord Walter Jas., Admarsh farm
 Proctor Edward, Brook close
 Pye Wm., Oakenclough
 Rawlinson John, Broadgate
 Rawlinson John, Calder side
 Shaw James, Tuttle hall
 Taylor —, Brook's farm
 Wills Bros., Hazlehurst
 Winder Mrs. Mary & Son, Bindhurst
 Yates John, Home house
 Yates Roger, Higher Fairsnape

Extract from Barrett 1917

Extracts from George Bullock's obituary: Preston Guardian, 1942

'Owd George' as he was familiarly known...was engaged with his postal returns when he had a fatal seizure and ironically enough he left a pair of shoes unfinished...had tramped thousands of miles of fell country and...gave up his postal round a few years ago with the advent of motor cycle delivery...carried on his postal and cobbling duties at a cottage over two miles away from his home, walking there and back daily...he was cobbling instructor at the Old Reformatory and at one time made the footwear for the Lancaster Police Force...in his younger days he gained repute as an all-round athlete...funeral, on Friday last at Admarsh Church, Bleasdale where he had been a member of the choir for half a century.'

George Bullock 1861-1942

Peter & Agnes Lord 1957

School Cottages early 20th century

Bringing the Post to Bleasdale: The Rural Postmen

Robert Bretherton brought the post from Garstang to Bleasdale for 33 years, from 1867 to 1900 - the rural postman who 'walked 200,000 miles' in the course of his duties. On his retirement in 1900 he was presented with a congratulatory address by the inhabitants of Bleasdale, Barnacre and Goosnargh. His son, Thomas Bretherton, then took over the duties and ultimately received the Imperial Service Medal for his services to the Post Office. After his retirement in August 1915, Thomas Armstrong took over the round until his enlistment in March 1916. He was killed in France in April 1917. George Bullock then delivered the mail within the Parish.

WALKED 200,000 MILES.—The death occurred on Saturday of Mr. Robert Bretherton, High-street, Garstang. Deceased, who was 71 years of age, was a retired postman. Born at Sales House, Goosnargh, he was in his younger days a gamekeeper on the Bleasdale Tower estate. In 1868 he went to Garstang and entered the postal service, from which he retired in 1900. That he was a most popular figure in the district is shown by the fact that at the end of 1900 he was presented with an address by the inhabitants of Barnacre, Bleasdale, and part of Goosnargh, as an expression of the respect and esteem. The address, inter alia, states: "We beg to present to you, on your retirement from the position of rural postman, which you have so honourably filled for the long term of 33 years from Garstang to Bleasdale, this address, with a purse of gold. It is with sincere regret that we hear of your being compelled to retire, owing to your inability to walk the long hilly journeys. It is estimated that during your postal career you have traversed upwards of 200,000 miles, chiefly over rough mountain tracks, weighted with heavy loads of parcels, as well as letters and newspapers for the district, and for some time at considerable physical suffering to yourself. We rejoice that the postal department has recognised your services and awarded you six stripes of merit." The address was signed by a long list of names. Deceased was also presented with a silver-mounted ebony walking stick, suitably inscribed, and a case of pipes by the members of the Garstang postal staff. Deceased was a member of the Court Bleasdale, Ancient Order of Foresters. His wife died two years ago, and he leaves three sons. The interment took place at St. Thomas's Church, Garstang, on Tuesday.

Preston Guardian 20th January 1917

IMPERIAL SERVICE MEDAL.—Mr. Thomas Bretherton, High-street, Garstang, a retired member of the Civil Service, has been granted the Imperial Service medal by the King as a recognition of long and meritorious service. Mr. Bretherton entered the Civil Service as a rural postman at Garstang on Jan. 28th, 1888, and for 26 years was employed on a round between Garstang and Bilborrow, via Cloughton. He then took over the Garstang town delivery, which he continued for seven months, and was afterwards transferred to the Garstang and Bleasdale round, carrying out his duties until August, 1916, when he had a seizure and had to retire from the service. Prior to entering the service he was a porter at Milnthorpe Station for 18 months, removing from Milnthorpe to Garstang to take up postal duties. He was a Past Grand Master of the Royal Adelaide Lodge, M.U., held at Garstang. His father, Mr. Robert Bretherton, who died in January last, was rural postman on the round between Garstang and Bleasdale for 33 years, and was awarded the six good conduct stripes. During his journeys the latter covered over 200,000 miles.

Preston Guardian 14th April 1917